

My husband and I started with an idea. This idea flourished into something that I could have never imagined. Victims of sexual assault and rape will be afforded the much needed time to report a crime. Countless victims will be able to have their voice heard. My husband and I realized that the 4 year statute of limitations did exactly that.... It would limit a victim's right to report and seek possible prosecution. Extending the statute of limitations to 20 years feels like a dream come true. This bill represents the fortitude of human will. With our will to persevere, and with the empowerment from the community and our State leaders, we have made a positive change. I thank each and every supporter, and member of the Nevada State Legislature and all of my family and friends who kept me going and inspired me to continue fighting. To all my girls (my Cosby survivors) this is a win for all of us..... We are making a difference... Thank you.
